Course Code: 64290

Day(s): MW

Time: 10:30- 11:50

Room: SSTR 100

This course leads students in a deep engagement with some of the key issues and foundations of Global Indigeneity. Moving between the rallying calls of Indigenous social movements and activist campaigns—from “Land Back!” to “reMatriate!”—this course takes the form of an incipient Indigenous manifesto. It insists that any engagement with Indigenous people must center Indigenous peoples and voices, and that any research worth doing must be grounded in the Indigenous present, uplift Indigenous presence, and ensure Indigenous futures.
